

Presentation Abstract for Florida Log 2002

“Innovative Approaches to Logistics Education”

This presentation is designed to provide an overview of the kinds of non-traditional education and training opportunities available to working logisticians. Information and references are provided for logistics reading lists, short courses, college courses that can be taken on a part-time basis, and scholarships. Recent developments in DoD-related logistics education and training are highlighted. Selection criteria for short courses are also included.
